SULT OF INJURIES. from Hemorrhage-Enforcing the Sunday Law-A Policeman Badly Billeted by a Megro.

dence of the Michmo PETERSBURG, July 26, 1886. Mr. William C. Lumsden, of whose cident on Saturday mention was made in this correspondence, died of his in-juries between 12 and 1 o'clock Sunday morning. His injuries were more serious than at first believed, and his death occurred sooner than was anticipated. Mr. Lumsden was accidentally caught between two cars in the shifting yard of the Petersburg railroad, on Washington street, while superintending the unloading of some iron that had been shipped to his firm. He was talkcaught between the bumpers of the cars. His injuries covered both the bowels and the spine.

Mr. Lumsden was about sixty-four years of age, and leaves a widow. He was one of our most valuable and liberal-hearted citizens, and a better man than the general public knew him to be. He was for many years a vestryman and senior warden of Grace church, and was the last survivor of the five earnest Christian men whose liberality and devotion founded and built up St. John's Episcopal church here. He was very liberal to the church and generous to the needy. For many years he was president of the Petersburg Benevolent Mechanics' Association, and was prominent as a Mason and Odd-Fellow. De-ceased was a brother of Mr. Charles Lumsden, of Richmond. Few men stood higher in the esteem and confidence of he community than he.

A case of peculiar sadness is reported from Prince George county. Miss Susic Collins, a very bright and attractive girl, aged about ten years, and daughter of a well-known farmer of the county, was taken with hemorrhage from the nose on Friday morning, and a physician was summoned from this city to attend her. Everything possible was done for her, and she was left in apparently favorable condition. Late night the summons for medical relief again came, and two of our most skilful physicians went out to see her. They stopped the external flow of the bemorrhage, but all remedies and skill failed in arresting the internal bleeding, and death resulted from exhaustion. Sunday-drinkers allege that yesterday was the "dryest" Sabbath known in Petersburg for years past. They declare that it was impossible to get a drink at any of the salcons, the recent action of the authorities having resulted in effectually closing them for the time being. Some further comsale of tobacco and cigars at the drugstores on Sunday is also to be prohibited, as coming within the provision of the Sunday law. It is furthermore reported to-day that should this be done steps will be taken to stop Sundaywork of all kinds, extending even to the sale of newspapers, the delivery of ice, and the running of street-cars.

Officer J. S. Northington, of the police corps, was very seriously hurt this afternoon, near the Richmond depot, while attempting to arrest a colored man named Willis Gilliam. Gilliam is the proprietor of a drinking-saloon on Old street, and was evidently under the influence of liquor at the time. Mr. flowers.

Northington being on duty at the depot, Miss I. complaint was made to him about Gilliam's disorderly conduct near by. The officer went to him and endeavored to quiet him. Gilliam refused to be pacified, and the officer finally threatened to arrest him. At this Gilliam became violent, cursed and abused the officer, and defied arrest. The officer seized him, and Gilliam shoved him off, whereupon the of-ficer struck him with his billet. Gilliam then closed in upon the officer, wrested his billet from him, and deals him four severe blows upon the head. each blow inflicting an ugly wound and causing the blood to flow freely. The officer fell to the ground, and persons interfered to prevent further trouble. There was a good deal of excitement about the spot, but the timely arrival of two officers put a stop to it. Officer Northington was taken to the stationdressed, after which he was sent to his home, on Market street. Gilliam was taken under arrest to the station-house, where his injuries were also attended to. and then he was sent to jail. Mr. Northington is an elderly citizen and his wounds are serious, though, it is hoped, not dangerous.

Felony Trials in Harrisonburg-The Recent Liettons-Instructed for O'Ferrall.

[Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch. HARRISONBURG, VA., July 24, '86. The trial of William Finchum charged with the murder of his brother, Preston Finchum, will begin in the County Court on Monday.

The wheat crop in this county is now being threshed out, and the yield is almost universally phenomenal.

The excitement about our municipal election has about subsided. The result, which was the election of the entire Reform ticket, except as to assessor, by majorities ranging from 50 to 172, was a surprise to both sides. The impression prevailed that the old ticket would be defeated, but all parties thought it would be close. The Town Council is composed of nine councilmen and the mayor and recorder. Those elected are all Democrats except the mayor and three councilmen. The principal patronage in the gift of the Council is the police force, which, it is thought, will be changed; but the terms of the present incumbents do not expire until January 1st next.

The meetings by districts to select delegates to the Front Royal Congressional Convention, on August 4th, will be held by the Democrate of this county to-day. It is thought the whole delegation will be solidly in favor of the renomination of Hon. C. T. O'Ferrall. This (Central) district passed atrong resolutions endorsing Colonel Congressities course. O'Ferrall's course.

To this part of our State nature has been especially kind, and this fact, com-bined with the efforts of our kind host and his charming wife, makes Blue-Ridge Springs almost all that could be desired as a summer resort.

The ball-room is an important feature in the establishment. Two "germans" were danced recently-one on Friday night the 16th instant and another on Thursday night the 22d instant. The latter was without doubt the most de-lightful one of the season. As will be seen in the subjoined list the numbers at the Springs were much increased by a very charming party from Lynchburg,, and your city is to be greatly congratulated on its representatives.

At 10:30 P. M. the german began, and was led by Mr. John S. Pickett, of Norfolk, who had as his partner Miss Potter, of Wilmington, N. C. It continued, with the usual intermissions. until I o'clock, when refreshments were served. After this portion of the programme had been duly appreciated, lancing was resumed and continued until 2:30 A. Yesterday morning early Eli Williams (colored), who was run over on Saturday night by an excursion train on the Seaboard and Roanoke railroad, died of his injuries. He was on his way from Portsmouth home, and when the train reached Bowers's Hill he immed off before the train stoned. jumped off before the train stopped, and was thrown under the wheels, his head being crushed, one eye knocked out, and his body cut and bruised. Williams was nearly seventy years old, safe in saying it would necessitate a long and perhaps fruitless search to find a place combining more advantages than the well-known Blue Ridge Springs.

The British steamship City of York, from Maryport, England, to New Orleans, which put in here Saturday afternoon in distress, having been caught in a clyclone on the passage over, is discharging, her cargo in Portsmouth to-day for the purpose of repairing

Bishop Keane, of Richmond, confirmed a class of over seventy candidates at St. Paul's Catholic church early yesterday morning, and at 11 o'clock preached a very able sermon to the young on the duty of forming good characters and living godly, Christian lives. An immense congregation, re-presenting all the denominations, heard the Bishop. The Bishop left in the afternoon by the Merchants' and Mi-ners' Line for Boston in the interest of the Catholic University.
Rev. Dr. Smeeds, of Raleigh, N. C.

A special train from Virginia Beach carried the guests to the chapel. Mr. and Mrs. Hoff, of Richmond, and Mr. and Mrs. Warren Elliott, of this city, rendered delightful music on the occasion.

Burned to Death-Struck by Lightning. [Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.] GLOUCESTER COURTHOUSE, VA., ?

July 22, 1886. \( \)
A few days ago a colored woman named Green, the wife of Robert Green, who resides in the lower part of the county, undertook to kindle a fire with kerosene oil. The result was that she was burned to death. The experience of a generation does not seem sufficient to make people heed the dangers of kerosene.

A barn of ex-Judge F. L. Taylor was recently struck by lightning. The damage was not very serious.

The county along the different watercourses is entertaining a goodly number of town people, who are undergoing their summer rustication. This community has suffered a very serious loss in the recent death of the smiable and popular Mrs. Annie Shackelford, the devoted wife of Alexander Shackelford, Esq. She was, in all the relations of life, emphatically a good woman.

The continued rains, it is feared, will seriously injure the crop of watermelons, which, in some sections, has for several years been very remunerative. In some parts of the county the corn is very fine; in others, especially the lowgrounds, it is much injured by the continued fall of rain.

A Murder Trial Regun.

[Special telegram to the Dispatch.] HARRISONBURG, VA., July 26.-The trial of William Finchum, charged with murdering his brother, Preston Finchum, on March 11th, near Elkton. in this county, was begun to-day in the County Court. Some sixteen out of forty witnesses for the Commonwealth were examined. The murder was a most foul one, the man having been shot and then had his head beaten to a pulp. The line of defence, which is conducted by W. S. Lurty and W. L. thought the case will go to the jury on Wednesday.

The State of Virginia can well afford to stand such decisions as that rendered against her last week in the Dulaney coupon case rather than allow the Treasury to be overrun with the cutworms. Instead of recovering the air-castle damages sought—$100,000—Dulaney only received a verdict for actual damages. This case and all similar ones are brought about by those whose only aim and intention seems to be to harass the State and lend their aid to her enemies. Virginia juries, no doubt, will mies. Virginia juries, no doubt, will see that justice is done her.—Salem Times-Register.

and Miss Polly Mickle, one of the most beautiful young ladies in the county, started together yesterday to get married. They were accompanied by a small wedding party. When they reached Jones creek they found that the water was up and they could not cross. They were going to the parson's, on the other side, to be married. "I'll swim across," said Tony Brush, the groom's best man, "and bring the preacher to the other bank, and he can marry you from there." He soon had Preacher Hazlett on the opposite shore. He gave him Jim's license and told him to proceed, which he did, and soon Miss Polly Mickle was Mrs. James Stout.
